

ALTA Amur Leopard Conservation

Newsflash, October 2008

First ever Amur leopard camera-trap photos at a livestock kill!

Anti-poaching team leader, Zhenia Stoma, placed two camera-traps at a livestock kill on a deer farm for the first time and captured three photos of an Amur leopard returning to a kill. To read Zhenia's full story and to see more photos, check out the News section of our website www.amur-leopard.org.

© Phoenix / ZSL

Camera-trap photo of an Amur leopard returning to a livestock kill on Gamov deer farm

New Amur leopard videos

Visit our website to watch new videos featuring Amur leopards. One video is about Amur leopard conservation and can also be viewed at:

www.youtube.com/watch?v=VUs\_QVyDxic.

A longer version of the video is also available. Please pass the link on to your friends, family and anyone else you think would be interested, and help us raise awareness of the need to protect Amur leopards. The other video features Vickie Ledbrook and Jez Smith from Colchester Zoo and Dr. John Lewis from IZVG demonstrating how they train Amur leopards in order to listen to their hearts without anaesthetic.

We hope you enjoy watching them both!

Send us your photos

Want to join our new Amur leopard Supporter Gallery? If so, please send your photo (preferably with the attached Amur leopard emblem) to

Amurleopard.Programme@zsl.org

Visitors show their support for Amur leopards at the Feline Conservation Centre (photo by Eric Barkalow)

For more information about our projects, visit our website and if you would like to help us continue our efforts to support field conservation projects and work towards saving the Amur leopard and its habitat, please donate. We ensure that 100% of the funds donated via our website are provided to Amur leopard conservation field projects.

Questions or comments? E-mail us at Amurleopard.Programme@zsl.org

www.amur-leopard.org